HEADHUNTING

Greetings from LEENIUS

LEENIUS, Every Connection Begins with Our Name.

We go beyond simple talent matching, building lasting, sustainable partnerships between companies and exceptional people. Our story began with the vision of founder Aiden LEE, whose mission was to discover GENIUS-level talent in every field. That vision was elevated with the global perspective of co-founder Steve AN. Together, we now embark on a journey as a strategic partner, swiftly and precisely delivering the key people who drive business forward. The name LEENIUS may sound unfamiliar at first. That's where the conversation begins. "What does LEENIUS mean?" That question opens the door for us to share our philosophy. Soft-sounding and approachable, the name reflects our way of working: sincere, thoughtful, and focused on sustainable success. LEENIUS is more than just a name. It's a promise to build trust and to create meaningful, enduring connections that help both companies and individuals grow.

Trust, Our Other Name.

We work with leading clients both domestically and internationally. We meet our clients in the way they desire and consistently move forward. Through this process, we often hear the phrase, "I trust them." Being trusted carries an immense sense of responsibility, but if we can make even one person's life better through our work, it brings us great joy. LEENIUS, a newly established search firm, is here because of the clients who started this journey with us. While we are still small, we will build authentic connections and create valuable results based on the trust of those clients who have chosen to work with us moving forward.

Our Goal Headhunting Division

Strategic Shift by 2030

LEENIUS Designs the Future.
By 2030, we aim to achieve an annual revenue of 3 billion KRW. This is a journey beyond mere growth. We read industry trends, connect data with people, and pave the way for becoming a leading search firm through sustainable partnerships. We prioritize trust over numbers and sustainability over short-term results, seeking long-term, customized connections without being swayed by immediate sales. This journey will not be easy, but we will surely succeed because, even in this very moment, we are connecting possibilities in a human-centered way.

It is a strategic transformation, not just a simple number.
LEENIUS' five key consultants, prior to joining, successfully completed approximately 80% of around 100 annual requests, with 87.5% of these filled through platform-based candidates. This highlights the current heavy reliance on platforms. While utilizing platforms is not inherently negative, strengthening our own Direct Search capabilities is essential for securing sustainable competitive advantage. We plan to build a systematic internal talent database while maintaining a balanced approach with platforms. This is not just a number but a strategic transformation, which will increase in value over time.

LEENIUS

Our Communication

Low-context communication

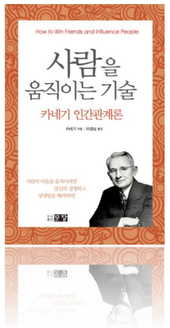

LEENIUS communicates with low-context clarity.
We go beyond simple information delivery and focus on clear, specific communication. Our conversations do not end with "This candidate is good." We explain why this person is a fit, what career context they have grown within, how their previous experience connects with the current position, and what motivations, attitudes, and personal stories lie behind the numbers. We look beyond what's written on the resume. We consider not only performance but also emotional fit, compatibility with organizational culture, and team dynamics. Sometimes, we find even greater potential in the unspoken gaps. LEENIUS' recommendations may not be the fastest, but we prioritize accuracy and creating more meaningful, human connections.

Category	Low-context Communication	High-context Communication
Method of Information Delivery	Focus on Clear and Direct Language (Mostly Included in Speech and Writing)	Implicit, Relying on Hints or Context
Mode of Expression	Direct and Clear	Indirect and Evasive
Building Trust	Execution-Based, Result-Oriented	Relationship-Based, Requires Time
Possibility of Misunderstanding	Low Potential for Misunderstanding	Interpretation Varies Based on Context and Relationships

Knowledge Management

All of our team members operate a book club to expand the foundation of knowledge and culture. We hold a reading discussion session once a month. Below are the books selected by our book club.

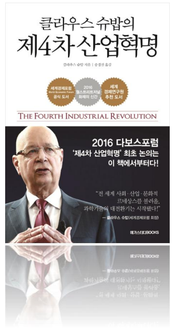

LEENIUS

IT Specialized Training

IT Specialized Training

We prioritize equipping our team with fundamental knowledge and capabilities in information technology as our core value. While we already have many highly skilled IT professionals on board, LEENIUS does not settle for this. We believe that understanding IT is just the starting point; continuous learning and growth are essential. Some may argue that hiring immediately available IT consultants is the most efficient approach, but LEENIUS thinks differently. Instead of focusing on short-term profits, we place "value" at the center and are building a systematic process to support the long-term growth of our consultants.

Partnered with Inf learn

As the first step, LEENIUS supports its consultants by providing access to specialized training through a contract with an IT training provider, allowing them to receive professional education whenever needed. The accumulated knowledge and experience empower LEENIUS consultants to develop deep problem-solving skills, aiming to become a trusted partner not only for leading domestic companies such as Naver, Kakao, and Coupang, but also for rapidly growing startups.
